Thanks Gil, we also found the activity somewhat abnormal. Yes, I'd welcome the chance to talk about these trades with you. I am traveling for the next two weeks, but perhaps we can schedule to speak on June 25 or 26 if that is convenient?

Regards,
Amit

Hi Amit,

Attached are my Sentry reports for May. It was a complex month in terms of options activity and, as my memo indicates, there were several unusual transactions relative to the typical matching of stock and options positions in executing the split-strike conversion strategy. All of the trades produced excess profits, as OEX traded higher on May 14th (after the early call repurchase on May 13th) and traded lower on May 20th (after the accounts had doubled up on long puts the previous day) and was also lower on May 23rd (when the accounts sold all their puts, though most of the stock and calls had been liquidated the previous day).

Though my consulting assignment is (and has always been) only to summarize the previous month's trading activity without providing editorial commentary, I must mention to you that I find the May options trading activity to be unusual and difficult to explain, and would encourage you to investigate it further. Please call me if you'd like to discuss this in more detail.

Best Regards,

Gil
